

¶ By the King.

¶ A Proclamation for the repressing of disorders of Marriners.

Hereas the Marriners lately imployed in our service, might not be dismissed, untill due satisfaction made of their wages, and we have, and still doe take care with all the speed wee may, to discharge, and make payment of their entertainments, and in the meane time see to provide for them, that they may not want that which is necessary for their lodging and dyet, fitting for their quality: And as it is fit, that whilst they remaine in Our pay, they should be restrained from those outrages, and tumultuous assemblies, which they dayly runne into, vnder pretence of their wants. And whereas, by the aduice of Our Pryncie Counsell, we haue already given order to the deputy Lieutenants, and Iustices of Peace of Our County of Middlesex, for the billeting of the said Marriners, in, and about the Townes, of Wapping, Ratcliffe, Limehouse, Blackwall, and Stepney, in Our said County, to the end the same may be orderly perfozmed: These are to Will and command, that the Purser of euery Ship, with two, or three onely of the Officers of that Ship, bringing with them a true list of the number, & names of the Marriners of the severall Ships respectiue, shall repaire to the Commissioners of Our Navy, and shall from them receiue Tickets, directing each Marriner contained in the said List, to the place & house where he is to be Billeted; vpon receipt of which Ticket, by each Marriner from the Purser, he is to repaire to the place directed by such Ticket, where he shall bee provided of meate, drinke, and lodging, according to the rate of three shillings and six pence the weeke, which we will iustly and duely satisfie.

And we doe further Will and command, that no Marriner doe presume to make their addresse to Our said Commissioners, or any others, vnder pretence of want of their wages, or provision for them, in greater numbers, or otherwise, then as aforesaid; And if they, or any of them, or any others vnder that pretext, shall from henceforth presume to assemble together in multitudes, or commit any outrages, or disorders, as formerly they haue done, we doe further Will and command, That the Lord Mayor, and Aldermen of Our Citie of London, within the said Citie and Liberties thereof, and the Lords Lieutenants, and Deputy Lieutenants of Our said Countie of Middlesex, and Counties adiacent, doe rayse and arme their Trained Bands respectiue, and doe therewith repell their insolencies, and assaile them in hostile manner, as rebels to the State, and enemies to the common Peace, and Government of the same; Of which Our Royall command, in, and concerning the premises, we doe hereby Will and require all and euery person and persons, to take knowledge, and thereunto to yeeld due obedience, at their vttermost perils.

Giuen at Our Court at White-Hall, the seuenteenth day of February in the third yeere of Our Reigne of Great Britaine, France, and Ireland.

God saue the King.
